WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 10.

THE RUSSIAN TREATY.-The treaty with Russia for the transfer to the United States of the Russian possessions in Northwestern America was ratified by the Senate yesterday, added in consideration of a guarantee by Russia to relieve us of any obligation arising out of the privilege which she had allowed others of fishing and hunting in the territory.

"REPORTS" FROM MEXICO. - The Baltimore American says that the Austrian Minister at | barre, Pa., -- Petrolia in Canada, &c., &c. Washington, on the 5th inst., announced to Mr. Seward that he had been instructed to ask the good officers of the U. S. Government in securing safe treatment to Maximilian and his followers in case they fell into the hands of the Liberals at Queretaro. On the 6th Mr. Sew ard replied that he had telegraphed to the U. S. Minister to Mexico, Mr. Campbell, to send a messenger to President Juarez, conveying a request that all possible leniency be extended towards the expected prisoners, and also that he had placed a copy of his instructions in the hands of Minister Romero, who had promised to inform President Juarez of the wishes of the U. S. Government. On the same day Minister Campbell telegraphed that he had forwarded the messenger as instructed.

MEETING OF COLORED PEOPLE IN PETERS-BURG, VA.-A large meeting of the colored people of Petersburg, and the surrounding country, was held in that place on Monday. -Good order was observed throughout. The meeting was addressed by Hunnicutt and two or three colored men. All the speakers united in urging upon the colored people the importance to themselves of su-taining the Radical party. "A letter was read from Mr. John M. Botts, strongly presenting the claims of the Radical party to the gratitude of the colored | Culpeper Court House, Va., was destrayed by people, and urging upon them the necessity of acting with that party as their only lope for the future. Mr. Botts, in this letter, regretted that he could not be present-he told the colored people that he regarded them as friends and allies in the political contests that are before us; warned them against the leaders of the "Democratic" party-denounced that party in the severest terms-stigmatized them as having "crawled on their knees" to obtain pardons and secure their property; said that as for himself he never had been an abolitionist, but always in favor of gradual emancipation; admitted that he was opposed to their having suffrage, "even as late as last fall, unless it could be accompanied with a military power in the State that would assure ample protection in the exercise of the right;" but that now, as the military power had been secured, it was all right; spoke of Gen. Schofield "as a just, enlightened, and honorable friend of the colored race;" again cautioned them against listening to the "tempters," in the shape of the former leaders of the Democratic and Secession parties-and urged them to aid in the election of their friends, to the State Convention, who would guarantee to them the "most ample protection." He concludes this style of language and exhortation, neither the tone, nor the sentiments of which we approve, with the following piece of very excellent advice, which, as a contrast to the foregoing, is a gleam of light and reason:

"You occupy a new position-one to which neither you nor the white race among whom you live, are accustomed. Let it not make you proud, haughty, nor obtrusive; press not and claim not anything which will serve to increase the prejudice unfortunately existing toward your race in many bosoms. You need not be cringing to any; but be prudent, be polite, be civil to all, and recollect that civility and good manners are the cheapest commodities in the market, and most easily carried about our persons, and pay better than any other qualities in the world. As brains will win in the long run against ignorance and folly, so civility and good breeding will overcome all prejudice in the end.'

Speaking of the late commotions and revolution in Hayti, the New York Sun says that "the history of that island since the colored population obtained its freedom, has been a series of sanguinary revolutions and civil wars, and the country is probably in a worse condition now than ever before. The leaders have never shown themselves capable of agreeing upon or establishing anything like a sound and substantial government. Life and property have always been exceedingly insecure and the constant danger of new revolutions has tended to keep the country in a deplorable condition.'

The Government having "acquired" Russian America, we shall presently see if all the favorable reports from that country, which have been so suddenly paraded in the public prints, are to be realized. It is made to ap. pointed under the Provisional Government of pear by these report that the purchase is a Virginia, in addition to the oath of office premost valuable one, in every respect! Fine scribed by the laws of the State, are to be reclimate, fine soil, splendid productions, &c., &c. What has been heretofore regarded by all the world, Russia included, as a cold, sterile region, worth nothing, now blooms and blossoms like the rose! We live and learn!

The Richmond correspondent of the New York Herald, says that in a conversation between Senator Wilson, and ex-Gov. Mr. Chenowith, of Baltimore, who has been giving lessons in painting to the ladies of the family of Mr. Jefferson Davis, at Fortress Monroe, states that in his conversations, whilst Mr. Davis complains of his detention without trial, he entertains towards the officers who have him in charge, the kindest feelings, and that he is grateful to many citizens of Baltimore for their favors to him. His health is now tolerably good. He speaks of public affairs calmly.

But the Duchy was a member of the old Confederation, and the fortress of Luxem bourg is held by a Prussian garrison. It is now known that Prussia, backed by the whole of Germany, objects to the transfer of the Duchy. The King of Holland has, therefore, withdrawn from further negotiations, but the French Emperor insists that his propositions shall be carried out and the treaty concluded. The pride of France is deeply wounded and a bitter anti-Prussian feeling has sprung up in the country. Both parties are said to be making military preparations.

COMPLIMENTERY. - Some of the members of the House of Dalegates, presented Mrs. Col. John B. Baldwin, with a large Crayon photograph of her husband, the popular Speaker of the House, done in the best style and hand somely mounted. Although the matter was entirely private and unceremonious, it was none the less acceptable to the surprised recipient. It was accompanied by the following note from the givers: RICHMOND, VA., March 14th, 1867.
